OUR CONTRIBUTION

HELPING THE PLANET

RedBook is an active advocate for sustainability in the world of prime property. We have developed our own Green Agenda which includes the crucial innovation of calculating the carbon footprint of our clients' projects – and then offsetting it.

We achieve this by investing in accredited green initiatives and planting trees, guided by our respected sustainability partner Ecologi. This carbon offsetting will be funded by RedBook as part of our significant commitment to the environment.

This means that our clients know their projects enjoy an enhanced environmental status from the very start.

And RedBook is not stopping there. We plan to work with our clients and the full range of our professional Partners to deliver a better environment with sustainability and pioneering green technology at the forefront.

YOUR INVOLVEMENT

SUSTAINABLE APPROACH

PASSIVE ROLE CONTRIBUTOR

Every property project impacts the environment with emissions of CO₂, the greatest contributor to global warming.

So for each client's project, RedBook will calculate the potential carbon footprint at concept-design stage and then again once the scope of work is defined.

Whether protecting lowland peat forests in Indonesia, or funding biomass- and solar-panel projects in developing countries, RedBook will keep clients informed of the number of trees planted and the specific green initiatives attributed to their projects.

ACTIVE ROLE DRIVER

If clients want to take an even more active role in managing the environmental impact of their projects, we are also eager to assist. Through our extensive network of expert sustainability Partners, we are able to help clients achieve even the most ambitious 'green' goals.

So whether clients aspire to lower the energy consumption of their new home, embed green technologies in its construction or willing to certify their property through schemes such as BREEAM or WELL, we will be able to guide them on that journey. RedBook is proudly committed to playing an active role in driving a sustainable approach to property projects.
